Head Letter Office Under Investigation—City Delivery for Auburn—Other Washington News.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Having caught a big fish in the puddle, the postal authorities are now after some of the small fry. It is reported that Mr. Bristow, the fourth assistant, has made out a list of twenty-five officials, including assistant superintendents, divisional clerks and subchiefs, who are slated for dismissal. From that list can be learned the following are among them:

GEORGE A. CHRISTIANCY, law clerk in the assistant attorney general's office, now on leave of absence.

EMANUEL SPEICHER, rural free delivery service.

JOHN M. MASTEN, railway mail service.

W. C. HAZZARD, rural free delivery agent, with headquarters at New York.

MISS IMA LIEBHARDT, confidential clerk to August W. Machen, formerly superintendent of city delivery.

H. CONQUEST, clerk rural free delivery.

C. P. GRANFIELD, assistant superintendent salaries and allowances.

M. A. W. LOUIS, chief of the supply division.

No specific charge has been made against Christiancy, and nothing involving him has been found by the postal sleuths, but the officials assert that he is not big enough for the place of law clerk of the department. Emanuel Speicher was closely associated with Machen and went on the latter's bond when he was indicted the second time. Various charges have been made against John M. Masten, who has been in the service for many years. Whether any of them has been substantiated cannot be learned. Hazzard is charged with having collected per diem accounts for a period of several days while he was confined to a hospital in this city last winter. Miss Ima Liebhardt has been performing the duties of chief clerk in Machen's office for several years, although the law did not make provision for such a place. The name of H. Conquest Clark has never appeared in any of the reports that have been in circulation around the department.

Delaware County Officer Has No Place for Juvenile Prisoners.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 18.—Just now Sheriff W. N. Swain has two prisoners that he wishes he did not have. He is in a quandary for a place to put them. The prisoners are Willie Starks, thirteen, and Charles Fodge, fourteen, the former arrested for larceny and the latter for forgery. The law passed by the legislature says that persons, under fourteen years of age, fined by a magistrate, justice of the peace, court officer or other officer or bound to court shall be incarcerated in an jail, police station, lockup or other place, but must be taken care of by the county. Sheriff Swain has the two minor boys but there is no place in the county provided for the detention of youthful criminals. He cannot turn them loose and he cannot place them in jail, police station, or lockup. Last night Sheriff Swain telegrams to the State authorities asking why he should do but received no help from that source.
